

Uniformed Services University of the Health Sciences

Distinguishing Between Employee Conduct & Performance

Supervisors need to address problems with employee conduct and performance in a timely and appropriate way.

The following topics will be discussed:

- Distinguishing between conduct and performance issues
- Identifying tools and approaches best designed to remedy these situations