GRADUATE SCHOOL OF NURSING

Dr. Jill Schramm is an Assistant Professor at the Daniel K. Inouye Graduate School of Nursing and also holds a secondary appointment as an Assistant Professor of Medicine at USUHS.

Dr. Schramm has been a government civilian since 2003 after several years of practicing at Evans Army Community Hospital at Fort Carson, Colorado as a staff nurse on Labor and Delivery, Nurse Practitioner, and later as the Chief of the Chronic Disease clinic. She received her BSN from Virginia Commonwealth University/Medical College of Virginia Campus in 2003, Master of Science in Nursing, Family Nurse Practitioner, from the University of Colorado, Colorado Springs in 2006, and DNP in 2009 from University of Colorado, Colorado Springs. She has held part-time faculty positions at various universities since 2006, teaching both didactic and clinical courses as well as being involved in course and curriculum development.

Dr. Schramm is an active member of American Association of Diabetes Educators (AADE), Preventative Cardiology Nursing Association (PCNA), and the American Academy of Nurse Practitioners (AANP).

Dr. Schramm was the Chief of the Chronic Disease clinic at Fort Carson, Colorado for a number of years where she lead a team of nurse practitioners and nursing staff in delivering comprehensive diabetes management to the Colorado Springs Multi-Service Market. She was responsible for spearheading a joint Army/Air Force diabetes recapture program that improved specialty diabetes access to care. She also acted as the lead clinical coordinator for the development of a new endocrine service. Under her leadership, she was able to expand the clinic staff through improvements in work flow, productivity, and innovation.

Dr. Schramm has been a speaker at numerous local, state, and national conferences on diabetes and chronic disease topics.

Dr. Schramm will maintain her clinical practice at Walter Reed National Military Medical Center Endocrinology clinic in Bethesda, Maryland.
